THE RENAISSANCE BINDINGS.

MESSRS. ROBERTS BROTHERS will issue this season a line of some of their most popular books, bound in full crushed Turkey morocco of dainty colors, and decorated in a style which fully justifies the characteristic term "Renaissance," being a revival of the old English bindings in vogue some seventy or eighty years ago, which were adapted from various artistic designs used in the Middle Ages. The books are hand-finished in a chaste and beautiful manner, solid gold edges, rolled on the inside and outer edges of the covers. The books are issued at extremely low retail prices, considering the fine quality of workmanship.

We invite educators particularly to examine this system of teaching languages. It is one of the few methods (probably the only one) that has accomplished the difficult task of uniting the practical study of language with thoroughness and correctness. By it the students are continually drilled in speaking and hearing the foreign idiom, without neglecting reading and writing it. The subject is presented to the student in such a manner that he is forced to realize the exact meaning of words and their modifications, and to build up understandingly the various forms of clauses and sentences. The lasting success the Berlitz Method has obtained everywhere is a certain proof of its value and efficiency, and makes it the duty of all teachers of languages to examine or test this system.

Conversation Dictionaries, Compiled by Richard Jäschke. Cloth. 32mo.

English-French part. 532 pages. Postpaid 90

English-German part. 500 pages. Postpaid 90

(Send for specimen pages.)

These Pocket Conversation Dictionaries differ from all hitherto issued. The Vocabulary has been most carefully selected, and comprises only words in actual use instead of being a mere compilation from previous dictionaries. Special attention has been paid to accurate distinction of the various meanings of the same word, and of their current technical uses. But the chief feature of the Dictionary is that the conversational and idiomatic phrases naturally connected with a word are grouped together under that word.

I know of no work that lends more dignity to the usual drudgework of acquiring the forms—that basis of wider acquisition for all who must learn a language by study, and I shall take pleasure in introducing it into my classes of beginners. NEW PUBLICATIONS.

A Glance at the Difficulties of German Grammar. By C. F. Cutting. Price . . . . . $ 50

The Essentials of the French Language. By P. M. Clerc. 175 pages, cloth 1 00

Especially adapted for Students who want to acquire the language quickly.

FRENCH WORKS.

The titles with a † indicate pure and unobjectionable works for young ladies; those preceded by a * are somewhat free, but not objectionable enough to prevent mature persons reading them. When these marks are added to authors' names, it means that their entire works have these respective qualities. Works of a higher order are not marked, as titles indicate sufficiently their nature. The absence of these marks on the other titles specifies light literature.

As it is impossible to have all the works in this catalogue on hand always, it would be advisable in case of ordering, to send a list of titles from which to select.

Based on a Natural Classification

WITH A GENERAL INTRODUCTION,

BY

THOMAS STERRY HUNT, M. A., LL. D.

The aim of the author in the present treatise has bee to reconcile the rival and hitherto opposed Chemical an Natural-History methods in Mineralogy, and to const tute a new system of classification, which is "at the sam time Chemical and Natural-Historical," or, in the word of the preface, "to observe a strict conformity to chem ical principles, and at the same time to retain all that valuable in the Natural-History method; the tw opposing schools being reconciled by showing that whe rightly understood, chemical and physical characters ar really dependent on each other, and present two aspect of the same problem which can never be solved by th consideration of both. He has, morever, devised an adopted a Latin nomenclature and arranged the miner kingdom in classes, orders, genera and species, the desig nation of the latter being binomial.

Scribner's Magazine

PUBLISHED MONTHLY WITH ILLUSTRATIONS

JOHN G. WHITTIER said:

"SCRIBNER'S is a work to be proud of. It occupies a place distinct from our other excellent magazines. It happily blends the imaginative, the practical, and useful."

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL said:

"I find SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE a most judicious mixture of grave and light, of the instructive and entertaining. I have been particularly struck with the beauty and clearness of the illustrations."

Mrs. A. D. T. WHITNEY says:

"To any one who might ask counsel in choice, I would say that SCRIBNER'S has been my choice among its compeers and favored in my family. It is invaluable for its comprehensiveness and variety of interest and information, and for its thorough treatment of the special topics of current study and inquiry. Complete and bound together it is a library in itself, a treasure for the household."

HJALMAR H. BOYESEN says:

"I have been a constant reader of SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE from the first. What particularly appeals to me is the uniform excellence of its literary character, the timeliness of the topics with which it deals, and the subordination of the illustrations to the letter press. I might add also that it has a certain intellectual tone which is distinctly its own and emphasizes its claim to public attention.

Bishop JOHN H. VINCENT says:

"I have watched its progress with great interest, and hope never to be without it. SCRIBNER'S is a Magazine for the home. Its articles are of the very highest literary character; its engravings superb. I congratulate the home into which it goes as a regular visitor."

Mrs. JULIA WARD HOWE says:

"Among the magazines, SCRIBNER'S is eminent for its varied interest and maintained high tone. The volumes are certainly a valuable possession for any home in which good reading and good art are appreciated."

EXPLANATION OF PRICES:—

1. The Introductory price indicated in our Catalogue is the price at which a book so listed will be furnished for first introduction into schools and colleges where not already in use.

2. The Wholesale price is the same as the Introductory price given in this Catalogue, and is used in billing all orders.

3. The Exchange price, the price at which a book will be furnished to pupils for first introduction, in addition to the corresponding old book in use, applies to school and college text-books only, and is usually two-thirds of the Introductory price.

4. Books sent for introductory supply will be billed at list Introductory prices, and the proper allowance for handling and for old books received in exchange will be made at settlement.

5. A single copy of any of our books will be sent, postage or expressage paid, to any address on receipt of the Mailing price, or of the Retail price when given. Such of our Charts, Maps, etc., as are not mailable, will be forwarded on receipt of Catalogue price — expressage to be at the expense of the purchaser.

AN EXAMINATION COPY of any school or college text-book named in our Catalogue, will be sent post-paid to any teacher or school officer on receipt of the Introductory price.

SUGGESTIONS. — In ordering, parties will confer a favor upon us by complying with the following suggestions:—

1. Always be careful to give full and exact titles.

2. State whether books ordered are for Introduction or for Regular Trade.

3. If for Introduction, make a careful estimate of the number of books required, and be careful not to send an excessive order; a second order is always more satisfactory to all concerned than a return of books resulting from an excessive order.

4. In ordering for Introduction, be particular to state the school or schools in which the books are to be introduced, what book, if any, is to be displaced, whether it is expected that exchanges will be made, and the probable number of such exchanges.

5. If you are not personally known to us, and wish us to open an account with you, always mention the name of some reliable party to whom we may refer, if we desire information respecting your responsibility and standing.

TERMS. — Note carefully the following:—

1. Orders for single copies of any book should always be accompanied by cash; do not ask us to open an account for the price of a single book.

2. All accounts for merchandise ordered for Regular Trade should be paid on or before the 15th of the month following the one in which they were contracted; if not so paid, we reserve the right to draw at sight, without special notice, through our Bank, on the 15th of the month, for the amount of such accounts.

3. All Introductory Accounts must be settled monthly. If the time allowed for introduction has not expired, parties with whom we have open accounts for Introductory Supplies should send us on the first of the month a statement of the books on hand unsold, with remittance to cover all books sold.

REMITTANCES should be sent to us by Bank Draft, P.O Money Order, Express Order, Postal Note or Registered Letter.

In addition to the Articles enumerated above we keep many more in stock, and furnish also all goods that are offered elsewhere.

New American and foreign Publications on Kindergartening, Manual Training, etc. are added to our stock as soon as issued.

Notice.

The present Catalogue shows that our assortment of Kindergarten Material is unsurpassed in extent; moreover the several articles have been manufactured according to the directions of the highest authorities on the genuine Frœbel System both in America and in Europe.

We are incessantly adding to our stock whatever articles of merit may be adopted in America and also in Europe. Hence there are many on our shelves that are not enumerated in this Catalogue.

We desire to state that all Material and all Furniture offered anywhere else can likewise be obtained from us, at the same prices. Thus all orders may be directed to us with the certainty of securing best quality, low prices, and prompt execution.

In addition to the engine-colored and coated glazed papers we are extensively using

Prang's Standard Colored Papers for the excellence and great variety of which we refer to pp. 19 and 20 of this Catalogue. We beg to call special attention to our unequalled stock of

Kindergarten Publications

in all languages, which is being constantly increased.

Instruction in Color.

Special Notice.

Prang's Standard Colored Papers have been prepared expressly for instruction in Color in Kindergartens and public schools. They differ widely from the colored papers manufactured for ordinary commercial purposes, in that they are prepared

a) in strict conformity to recognized educational standards;

b) in carefully graded scales, harmonious in themselves, and harmonious in their relations to other scales of Color;

c) entirely free from arsenic and safe for the youngest children to handle freely.

Prang's Standard Colored Papers are widely used in public schools of all grades.

It is especially desirable that the Color Instruction of Kindergartens and that of primary and grammar schools shall be so conducted as to make one consistent whole. In order to render this practicable arrangements have been made for providing Kindergartens with the Prang colored papers in various shapes and sizes and in desirable assortments, ready for use in the Kindergarten occupations.

These Kindergarten papers are prepared and supplied by Messrs. E. Steiger & Co., 25 Park Place, New York, to whom inquiries and orders should be addressed.

The First Gift. In paper. $0.25

The Second Gift.
Sphere, Cylinder, and Cube.

Aim: to teach form and to direct the attention of the child to the similarity and dissimilarity existing between different objects. This is done by pointing out, explaining, and counting the sides, corners, and edges of the cube; by showing that the sphere, the cylinder, and the cube differ from one another in their several properties on account of their difference of shape; by pointing out that the apparent form of the sphere is unchanged, however looked at, but that the apparent forms of both the cube and the cylinder vary according to the point from which they are viewed.

11. A set consisting of a sphere, a cylinder, and two cubes — neatly made of wood and provided with the necessary staples, holes, and strings. In a varnished cherry-wood box with cross-beams for hanging the forms. $0.60

12. A wooden polished box containing 12 spheres, 12 cylinders, and 12 cubes (each 2″ diameter). net $3.50

The Eighth Gift.
The Connected Slat.

This Gift represents the embodied edge of the figure, it is the outline form of the plane of which, owing to the breadth of the single slats, it is still a considerable part. It consists of 10 slats about 4″ long and ½″ wide, each overlapping the next one at the end, and fastened to it by a rivet, so that all can be folded up or unfolded, and moved into different forms, geometrical, or symmetrical, or into representation of objects.

121. A set of 10 connected slats each 4″, altogether 40″ long, with the indication of meter, decimeter, and centimeter on the other side. $0.20
122. A box containing 4 connected slats, 1 each of 4, 6, 8 and 16 links, without measure. net $0.40
123. A set of 8 links, without measure. net $0.10

Mat-plaiting (Weaving, Braiding).

Strips of colored paper are, by means of a steel or wooden needle of peculiar construction, woven into another (differently colored) leaf of paper, which is cut into strips throughout its entire surface, except that a margin is left at each end to keep the strips in their places. A very great variety of designs is thus produced, and the inventive powers of teacher and pupil are constantly stimulated.

Abbreviations: pricol = primary colors (red, blue, yellow) — secol = secondary colors (purple, green, orange) — pr & secol = primary and secondary colors — tercol = tertiary colors — ti & sh = tints and shades — alt = alternately — sli = slits — str = strips — *str  = strips matching slits in cut — † = matching slits in color.

Pea- or Cork-Work.

Pease are soaked in water for 8 or 12 hours, and pieces of wire, of various lengths, pointed at the ends are stuck into them for the purpose of imitating real objects and the various geometrical figures. Wooden sticks similar to those used in Stick-laying but thinner (only 1/16″ thick) are also used for this purpose.

In place of pease many persons prefer cork cubes which may be conveniently used again and again.

Steiger's Kindergarten Paper Frames

(Passe-partout) for the suitable and convenient exhibition, on the wall or elsewhere, of children's work in Perforating, Embroidering, Drawing, Paper-interlacing, Weaving (Mat-plaiting), Paper-folding, Paper-cutting, etc.

These Paper Frames are attractive and serviceable, having an open space — either right-angled or oval — for the display of the specimens of Kindergarten Work, so arranged that these can be readily inserted; they are made by the doubling of heavy colored card-board, have neatly printed boarders, silk bands, and are ready for instant and repeated use.

They serve as an ornament to the room, while, more than this, they have the desirable effect of encouraging the children, who thus have before their eyes some work of their hands, which is a delight to their parents and appreciative friends.

The low price of these Frames permits their very extensive use as a means of preserving the neat and ingenious designs and productions of the children, which otherwise would be lost or considered an encumbrance.

Each package contains 1 dozen Paper Frames either of one size, in 6 or more assorted colors, or of a selection from various kinds, permitting a suitable and tasteful combination.

The Prang Course of Instruction in Color.

Among thoughtful teachers, the study of the child has come to be an accepted necessity in educational progress. The new methods of teaching the fundamental studies are strikingly in advance of the old methods. The best schools have abandoned the method of beginning the instruction of children by forcing upon them the technical formulæ of ready-made knowledge, regardless of the child's limited capacity for grasping the ideas of mature minds. The best teaching of Language, Number, Geography, Elementary Science and Drawing now takes sympathetic account of the child's powers of observing and thinking, and also of the manner in which these powers can best be developed.

As with the instruction in these subjects, so it should be with Color.

If instruction in Color is to come into the schools as a part of our system of public education, it must be based on sound educational principles, and must be developed according to educational methods,—that is, methods consistent with the actual mental condition of the children under instruction, and with the known laws of mental growth. Extended and careful observations of young children, made by competent persons under the most varied conditions, show it to be a fact that children do not see color as adults see color. The color sense in most young children is imperfect in action and limited in range. The Prang Course of Instruction in Color begins by recognizing this fact, and appeals, in the first place, to the child's rudimentary color sense. From this beginning, it unfolds through graded exercises involving at every step the activity of the pupil's individual powers of color observation and color expression. The object of these exercises is: —

To develop in the pupil, through direct and repeated observations of color, the power to recognize beauty and harmony in color effects.

To train the pupil, through the wisely guided personal use of color material, to skill in expressing thought and feeling by the use of such material.

To so connect the pupil's study of Color with that of Form, Drawing and other branches of school instruction, that his developing powers of color observation and color expression may be of value in his study of Nature and of Art.

The Color Instruction heretofore provided in the schools has been of a purely abstract and theoretic sort, taking account only of the science of Color in itself considered. The Prang Course of Instruction in Color is the first ever devised and formulated with a distinct recognition of the relation of Color to the mental condition and mental growth of children. It is the only Course founded at once on a thorough knowledge of the scientific side of the subject of Color, a full appreciation of the Art side of the problem, and long and widely extended experimental study of the color sense in children and its progressive development under training.

Materials for carrying out the work of this Course of Instruction are being prepared, and will soon be completely ready for the schools. The materials for Primary work include Color Charts of various kinds, Colored Tablets and Colored Papers. The use of Water-Colors in the Primary School is rarely practicable, but the Papers prepare for work with Water-Colors. The materials for Intermediate, Grammar and higher grades include Color Charts, Colored Papers and Water-Colors.

The standards of Color presented to pupils have been fixed after long study of the scientific theory of Color, wide experience in the actual use of Color in Art and in the industries, and repeated conference with color experts, both American and European. In the preparation of Prang's Standard Colored Papers, four important considerations have been taken into account: —

1) The recognition of the solar spectrum as nature's unit of color, although it is impossible to reproduce its immaterial hues with absolute exactness in any known pigmentary substances.
2) The recognition of those colors as typical, which, on account of their universality in nature and in art, are recognized by the trained eye as types of certain hues. The luminous green of the spectrum, for example, is not actually identical with the green which is fairly representative or typical of the green of nature — the universal green. Both phases of green should be taken into account, in fixing upon a standard of green.
3) The recognition of the trained æsthetic sense as a rightly authoritative element in adoption of standards of color.
4) The necessity of considering the nature of the pigmentary substances employed; they must be absolutely non-poisonous.

It is believed that the Prang Course of Instruction in Color will be found a sound educational formulation of the subject, and that Prang's Standard Colored Papers, and the other color material provided for working out this Course in the schools, will prove practical and satisfactory in school-room use.

Of all occupations for children, Building is one of the most useful. It trains eyes and hands, develops the sense of the beautiful and the intellectual faculties, and strengthens the child's judgment.

With a view to these advantages for the child, the above Building-plays are specially recommended. The unit of all building is the cube, from which all other forms are developed, according to the system of Frœbel.

The drawings which accompany these plays, are numerous and so carefully presented, that they can be followed without any difficulty even by young children. On the other hand they serve as the basis of numberless variations, with which the attentive and inventive child will busy himself.

These boxes are primarily intended for children who are unable to attend a Kindergarten regularly, and also as a substitute for toys and playthings generally. Stated more precisely, however, their design is, to provide children of 3 years and over with instructive and quiet amusement, and to quicken their intellect without wearying the brain — to inculcate manual skill, artistic taste, a ready appreciation of results, and, consequently, a love of learning and application — to train children's minds through apparent play and recreation, while they are the means of producing little presents — to prepare children for school, and render home instruction easy and entertaining, without requiring constant attention.

☞ This is a book for every family, and for every teacher. — Miss E. P. Peabody writes in regard to it: "We like the Manual very much, and my sister (Mrs. Mann) says, 'since it is impossible for Mr. Kraus to teach all the children in the United States herself, the next best thing for her to do is certainly to give these precise and full directions to others. We are indeed delighted with your minuteness, thoroughness, and clearness of direction. Your book is certainly far in advance of any Guide we have yet seen".

Der Verfasser dieser Serie von Lesebüchern ist seit 40 Jahren mit einer der wichtigsten Aufgaben der Schule — dem Elementarunterrichte — betraut, und hat darin grosse Erfolge erzielt. Auf seine reichen Erfahrungen sind diese Bücher basirt. Das Charakteristische derselben besteht in dem wohldurchdachten Systeme, mit und neben dem Lese-Schreibunterrichte vermittelst anziehender und reichlich illustrirter Lesestücke die Aufmerksamkeit des Kindes zu fesseln, sein Gemüt und seine Willenskraft zu bilden, und seinen Verstand zu entwickeln. Dabei ist Reales und Ideales, Prosa und Poesie in schönste Harmonie gebracht und für den Anschauungsunterricht wird besonders viel geboten.

Diese Bücher sind daher besser als andere geeignet, dem Kinde das Lesen leicht und angenehm, Schule und Lehrer aber ihm lieb zu machen. Besonders erfreuliche Fortschritte in allen Fächern sind die natürliche Folge davon.

Instruction in German.

Satisfactory Results attained with Steiger's Colloquial Method of Learning the German Language.

This work has been written to accord with the Course of Instruction adopted for the Public Schools of the City of New York.

For the purpose of insuring a thorough and efficient study of German in the public schools such as will enable the pupils to make a practical use of their acquaintance with this language in conversation and business-life, that Course, in 1890, extended instruction in German over the first five Grades of the Grammar Schools, whilst formerly German had been taught only in the Second, Third, and Fourth Grades.

The results attained are thus referred to by the Hon. JOHN JASPER, City Superintendent of Schools, in his Annual Report for the year 1892:

"The teaching of the German and French languages has met with decided success during the past year. Since the course of study was changed and enlarged, and the subject continued through five instead of three terms (the First and Fifth grades having been added), a great difference has been noticed, particularly in the conversational exercises. In these exercises the classes have improved very much, not only because more time has been devoted to the subject, but because teachers have shown great readiness to adopt the more modern and improved methods. The old, time-honored ideas of "question and answer", in vogue even as late as ten years ago, have given way almost entirely to the far more progressive ones of teaching to read by reading, to speak by speaking, to write by writing, to converse by conversing—in fact, to learn how to do by "doing", instead of by mere questioning, repetition, rote-work and barren instruction on the part of the teacher, followed by monotonous, monosyllabic answers on the part of the pupil. This is the great underlying principle of all education, and years of earnest labor have paved the way to an understanding of this principle by the special teachers.

The written exercises are better, the translations more spirited, and the oral exercises more interesting. The full effect of the new system, however, cannot be seen until several more terms have passed, inasmuch as the best possible results can be expected only after the full course of instruction has been put into operation."

STEIGER'S COLLOQUIAL METHOD

OF LEARNING THE

GERMAN LANGUAGE.

BY

JOSEPH DEGHUÉE.

The Colloquial Method followed in this book attempts so to combine the "natural" method with the "grammatical" as to include the best features of both.

While the student is trained, from the outset, to comprehend the foreign idiom when spoken, and to express his own thoughts in the foreign language, the conversation is under the constant guidance of grammar, question and answer, address and reply being always kept within the limits of the grammatical knowledge of the student.

The grammatical instruction, distributed over 124 lessons, passes in very easy stages through the whole range of German etymology and comprises the essential rules of German syntax.

Each lesson gives 1) a very simple grammatical rule or explanation, which is illustrated by sentences for oral and written translation and questions that must be answered in German; 2) a conversation, generally in the nature of an object lesson, containing only such terminations and grammatical forms as are, at that stage, known to the student, and gradually introducing the most common words of daily intercourse.

These conversations are not ready-made dialogues designed to be read, translated, and memorized, but real discourses, in which the student has to bear an active and living part. Thus he acquires a large vocabulary and considerable readiness and fluency in the use of the language: without tedious effort, he learns to speak German.

Scraps from German Literature

A Selection of

Proverbs, Quotations, Anecdotes, Humorous and other Pieces

Number One

48 pp. 12mo., printed in large and open Long Primer Schwabacher type, on heavy paper with wide margin. Strongly sewed, in paper cover, $0.30

This little book is intended to afford students an agreeable diversion from ordinary German Reading. The material has been carefully selected; the diction is, in general, plain and presents few grammatical difficulties, and the frequent occurrence of dialogues and idiomatic phrases will assist the students in familiarizing themselves with conversational German.

Samples of type and contents:

Die Wände haben Ohren.

Zwei harte Steine mahlen nicht gut.

Strenge Herren regieren nicht lange.

Handwerk hat goldenen Boden.

Gute Ware lobt sich selbst.

Viele Hände, leichte Arbeit.

Umsonst ist der Tod.

Jeder ist sich selbst der nächste.

Das Wasser hat keine Balken.

Unverhofft kommt oft.

Wo Gott, da Liebe,
Wo Liebe, da Friede,
Wo Friede, da Segen,
Wo Segen, da Gott,
Wo Gott, keine Not.

Wenn du hörst, daß einer klagt,
Hör auch, was der andre sagt.

Alte soll man ehren,
Junge soll man lehren,
Weise soll man fragen
Und Narren ertragen.

Schlechtes Land. „Wie ist es Dir drüben in Amerika gegangen?"

„Gräßlich, ganz miserabel! Wer dort nicht arbeitet, muß verhungern."

Der letzte Zug. „Können Sie mir nicht sagen, wann der letzte Zug nach Potsdam geht?" fragte ein Reisender auf der Bahn seinen Nachbar.

„Na," meinte dieser trocken, „das werden weder Sie noch ich erleben."

Verunglücktes Kompliment. „Nein, Fräulein, wie Sie sich heute hübsch gemacht haben! Sie sind gar nicht mehr zu erkennen!"

Eigentümlicher Begriff. „Du, Toni, bei wem bist Du denn jetzt?"

„Bei einem Doktor!"

„Was für ein Doktor ist er denn?"

„Das weiß ich nicht."

„Dummer Mensch! Du mußt doch sehen, was er arbeitet!"

„Arbeiten thut er gar nicht. Der setzt sich in der Früh' an seinen Tisch und liest und schreibt bis in die Nacht."

This Grammar may be used as a companion volume to any Latin Course; and, while each important principle or rule is illustrated by Latin examples and their translations, an additional reference in superior figures often directs the student to the very numerous examples and exercises in the First, Second, and Third Latin Book of the Ahn-Henn Practical Course.

AHN-HENN'S First Latin Reader. (De septem regibus Romanorum from Livy.) With Notes, Vocabulary, and References. Boards $0.70; clo. $0.80

AHN-HENN'S Second Latin Reader. (Selection from Justinus, Cæsar, Cicero, and Phædrus.) With Notes, Vocabulary, and References. Boards $0.80; clo. $0.90

AHN-HENN'S Latin Readers. Complete. Half roan $1.50

AHN-HENN'S Manual of Latin Prose Composition. Boards $0.50, is calculated to meet all the requirements even for a six years' collegiate course in Latin.

These two books can be profitably used in connection with the above or any other Latin Course.

These Keys, which are intended as aids to dictation exercises, etc., will be supplied to teachers only upon direct application to the publishers.

Note.—For [3]), [4]), [5]), separate Keys have not yet been issued, since the exercises are all selected from Ahn-Henn's First, Second, and Third Latin Books, and may be found in [6]), [7]), and [8]), by a little searching.

Thorough Study of Latin made easy

Most Latin grammars now in use task the beginner with a mass of grammatical detail which is worse than useless, a bar to progress all the more irritating because unnecessary. Hence the wide-spread demand for a grammar that contains everything of importance for all learners, including those who contemplate a collegiate course of study, while it studiously omits matters of disputed usage, the study of which will offer no difficulty whatever to the college-student, to whom they properly belong.

AHN-HENN'S Latin Grammar, and the other books of this Latin Series are the realization of this view, and particular attention is invited to the following distinctive features:

1. The best Orthography is exhibited; Quantity is marked throughout, besides Syllabification and Accent in paradigms.

2. Etymology is carefully treated. Without being cumbersome, this Course is believed to be more full and complete, especially in the illustrative examples in Declension and Conjugation, than any other Latin grammar now in use. On these points a comparison will show how simple, practical and clear it is.

3. The Derivative Endings (Word-formation) are thoroughly illustrated and classified.

4. Syntax is logically treated in every part. Though brief, it is very comprehensive and so clear in its statements that this subject, generally considered so difficult, is easily understood. The construction of Prepositions, commonly left to the Dictionary, receives here, for the first time, the attention that is its due in a school grammar.

5. The clear and compendious description of the Metres, and especially the full Alphabetical Index of Subjects are very important.

6. The usefulness of these books is increased by judicious typographical arrangement.

AHN-HENN'S Latin Courses furnish an excellent preparation for any of the Latin grammars used at College, the difficulties in which will be mastered all the better when the groundwork has been securely learned from any of the AHN-HENN Courses.

Even for Colleges, where a six years' course of Latin is pursued AHN'S First, Second and Third Latin Books have been adopted as the best books for elementary instruction, and recently the Complete Latin Syntax and its companion volume, the Manual of Latin Prose Composition have been prepared for use in the highest classes, so that now the AHN-HENN Latin Course fully meets all the requirements of easy yet full and thorough study of Latin.

On the other hand, the Short Latin Course (which contains Grammar, Exercises for double translation, and Reading Lessons together with vocabularies, all in one small volume) has been prepared for use in schools where Latin can be studied only for one or two years.

Particular attention is invited to the Wall Charts and the Vocabulary which are unique, and may be used advantageously also in connection with any other Latin Course. The First, Second and Third Latin Books offer an abundance of Exercises for double translation, of which the teacher may use all, or a portion only, as his judgment or other circumstances may dictate. The Vocabularies in these three books contain every Latin and English word occurring in the exercises. The Readers furnish the best classic Latin.

The books are printed in large, clear type, and issued in superior style at low prices. Favorable terms for introduction. Specimen copies sent to teachers upon receipt of half the advertised price.

E. STEIGER & CO., 25 Park Place, NEW YORK.

Samples of Type used in the AHN-HENN Latin Course.

1. Nouns ending in ĕr and ēr add ĭs, to form the genitive, as: ansĕr, ansĕrĭs, a goose; vēr, vēris, spring; those ending in tĕr, also imbĕr, a shower, and the names of months in bĕr change ĕr into rĭs, dropping the e before the r throughout, as: pătĕr, pătrĭs.

Examples are:

passĕr, –ĭs, a sparrow — mātĕr, –rĭs, a mother
mŭlĭĕr, –ĭs, a woman — frātĕr, –rĭs, a brother

The time of an action is denoted by the ablative, as: vere, in spring; hiĕme et æstāte, in winter and summer.

German Publications relating to America and Books written by Germans in America.

Deutsche Schriften über Amerika

und Bücher von Deutschen in Amerika,

1) in neuen, und

2) in antiquarischen Exemplaren.

Wir beabsichtigen, nach und nach die werthvolleren Erscheinungen der deutschen Literatur über Amerika, sowie auch Bücher, welche von Deutschen in Amerika geschrieben worden sind, so vollständig als thunlich auf Lager zu nehmen und durch unsere Cataloge anzuzeigen, auf welche Weise ohne Zweifel die Existenz vieler einschlägigen Schriften zum ersten Male zur Kenntniß mancher Personen kommt, die sich für Amerikanisches interessiren.

Wir ersuchen demgemäß, geeignete Bücher und Broschüren, welche nicht schon in unseren Listen verzeichnet sind, uns anzubieten, bezw. die betr. Autoren und Verleger an uns, oder uns an sie zu verweisen.

Von im Auslande geschriebenen Romanen, Novellen u. s. w. nehmen wir solche auf, deren Schauplatz in Amerika liegt, die also Land und Leute der Neuen Welt mehr oder weniger behandeln.

Ältere Schriften, wie z. B. Führer für Einwanderer, Reisebeschreibungen u. s. w., die wir in antiquarischen Exemplaren führen, dienen als Mittel, um die früheren Zustände mit den jetzigen zu vergleichen, und sind darum von Interesse. Selbstverständlich werden solche Schriften je älter, desto seltener — und werthvoller.

Von Gustav Körner.

Zweite vermehrte und verbesserte Auflage, 1884. Ein Band in 8 vo. von mehr als 400 Seiten. Gebunden $2.50.

Dieses zuerst im Jahre 1880 erschienene Buch enthält höchst interessante biographische Nachrichten über viele Hunderte von Deutschen, welche schon vor 1848 eingewandert sind, und sich — theilweise selbst in weiten Kreisen — einen Namen gemacht haben. Damit wird der Nachweis geliefert, daß das deutsche Element nicht erst seit 40 Jahren einen Einfluß auf amerikanische Verhältnisse und Zustände ausgeübt hat, sondern schon vor 1848 zu Anerkennung gekommen ist.

Als das werthvollste deutsch-amerikanische Buch der Neuzeit ist anerkannt:

In der neuen Heimath.

Geschichtliche Mittheilungen über die deutschen Einwanderer in allen Theilen der Union.

Herausgegeben von Anton Eickhoff.

Erste (vollständige) Ausgabe.

Ein Band von mehr als 580 Seiten in schöner, kräftiger Schwabacher Long Primer Schrift gedruckt. Broschirt $2.50, elegant in Leinen gebunden, die obere Seite mit Goldschnitt $3.00; in Halb-Morocco mit rothem Schnitt $4.50; in Ganz-Morocco mit Goldschnitt $6.00.

Dieses Buch ist eine — und jetzt die einzige — Geschichte der Deutschen im ganzen Bereiche der Union, so ausführlich gehalten, als der beschränkte Raum und andere Umstände es gestatteten. Dem Herausgeber ist es gelungen, in fesselnder Weise das Wichtigste zu erzählen und darzustellen, so daß „In der neuen Heimath" für jeden Deutsch-Amerkaner, ja für Jedermann, der sich für geschichtliche Darstellung interessirt, ein äußerst werthvolles Buch ist, welches in jeder deutschen Familie des Landes einen Platz finden sollte.

Der Inhalt ist folgender: Einleitung. — I. Die Deutschen in New York. Neu-Niederland. — Gräuelthaten der Holländer. — Peter Stuyvesant als General-Director von Neu-Niederland. — Die Besitzung Van Rensselaer's. — Die Deutschen in Neu-Schweden. — Indianer-Unruhen in Neu-Niederland. — Untergang der holländischen Herrschaft. — New York unter den Engländern. — Revolution in New York. — Die Einwanderung der Pfälzer. — Der Zug der Pfälzer nach London. — Die deutschen Ansiedler am Mohawk und Schoharie. — Ausbruch der amerikanischen Revolution. — Ende des Revolutions-Krieges. — Die Einwanderungs-Commissäre. Die Reise ins Innere. — Das Runner-Unwesen. — Gefahr für das Fortbestehen der Einwanderungs-Commission. — II. Die Deutschen in New Jersey und Neu-England. III. Die Deutschen in Pennsylvanien. Anfang der Auswanderung nach Amerika. — Gründung von Germantown. — Sekten und Kirchen. — Furcht vor den Deutschen. — Der Menschenhandel. — Buchdruck und Zeitungen in Pennsylvanien während des vorigen Jahrhunderts. — Deutsche und Indianer. — Freischulen und Nativismus. — Die Deutschen und die Revolution. — Nach der Revolution. — Die Landdeutschen. IV. V. Die Deutschen in Maryland und Virginien, — in den Carolinas. VI. Die Salzburger in Georgia. VII. VIII. Die Deutschen in Kentucky, — in Ohio und Indiana. Die ersten Spuren der Deutschen. — Pontiac's Krieg. — Bouquet's Feldzug nach Ohio. — Die Herrnhuter-Ansiedelungen. — Das Massacre von Gnadenhütten. — David Ziegler und die Kriege von 1788—1795. — Das deutsche Element vor 1830. — Von 1830 bis 1850. — Von 1850 bis zur Gegenwart. — Die Achtundvierziger. — Die deutsche Presse. IX—XIV. Die Deutschen im unteren Mississippi-Thale und in Texas, im oberen Mississippi-Thale, — Wisconsin und Michigan, — in den westlichen Hochlandgebieten, — in den Pacific-Staaten. XV. Schweizer-Einwanderung und Ansiedelungen. — Anhang. Die Deutsche Gesellschaft der Stadt New York. Noten.

Neben dieser vollständigen Ausgabe des Buches (welche fortwährend im Markte bleiben wird) ist auch die Zweite Ausgabe von

In der neuen Heimath

zu haben. Diese Ausgabe unterscheidet sich von der Ersten dadurch, daß der 164 Seiten starke Anhang, welcher eine Geschichte der Deutschen Gesellschaft der Stadt New York, Listen ihrer Mitglieder und Beamten, biographische Notizen, u. s. w. enthält, weggelassen ist.

Wie werthvoll und interessant dieser Anhang auch speciell für die Mitglieder der Gesellschaft und deren Freunde ist und bleibt, so erschien es doch angemessen, für Diejenigen, welche derselben nicht nahestehen, mit Weglassung des Anhanges die Zweite Ausgabe zu veranstalten, die zu dem dadurch ermöglichten billigeren Preise sowol bei den eingewanderten Deutschen als auch den von Deutschen abstammenden Amerikanern, kurz bei Allen, welche sich für die erfreuliche Entwickelung des deutschen Elements in der Union interessiren, weite Verbreitung finden wird.

Die Zweite Ausgabe kostet, stark geheftet und steif broschirt mit Marmorschnitt, $1.50; gebunden in Leinwand $2.00

Lebenskämpfe in der Alten und Neuen Heimath.

Darum sind dieselben höchst interessant nicht nur für Solche, denen New York noch fremd ist, sondern sogar für Diejenigen, welche in der amerikanischen Metropole heimisch sind, und das Geschilderte mehr oder weniger schon selbst beobachtet haben, wenn auch nur bruchstückweise. Hier werden aber ganze Reihen vollständiger Bilder geboten, welche Jedermann bis zum letzten mit gespanntem Interesse genießt.

II. Theil: Lexikon der Hauswirthschaft.

Einfache Recepte, erprobte Hausmittel und practische Winke für Familienväter, Hausfrauen, Hausbesitzer, Gewerbetreibende und Handwerker. Nebst einem deutsch-englischen Verzeichnisse chemisch-technischer und vieler anderen Kunstausdrücke. Zusammengestellt und herausgegeben von C. Stürenburg und E. Steiger.

Broschirt $0.60; in Leinen gebunden $0.80.

Wie zu „Auskunft für Deutsch-Amerikaner in den wichtigsten Fragen des öffentlichen Rechts-, Geschäfts- und Privat-Lebens", so haben auch für das vorliegende Werk die auf Fragen der Hauswirthschaft, des Kleingewerbes und Handwerkes, sowie der Gesundheitspflege bezüglichen Antworten im „Briefkasten" der „N. Y. Staatszeitung" die erste Anregung gegeben.

In der Praxis geprüft und bewährt gefunden, werden die hier mitgetheilten Recepte und Erfahrungen, Rathschläge und Winke für jede deutsche Familie in Nord-Amerika sich als eine Quelle von Vortheil und Nutzen erweisen. Durch die alphabetische Anordnung des Stoffes aber wird der Gebrauch des Buches wesentlich erleichtert: man sucht nur das betreffende Stichwort und findet sofort die gewünschte Auskunft über Dasjenige, was in Haus und Hof, in der Familie bei Krankheitsfällen und in der gewerblichen Praxis tagtäglich vorkommt. Dabei sind für sämmtliche Recepte die in Amerika gebräuchlichen Maße und Gewichte angegeben, während die vorkommenden technischen Ausdrücke und chemischen Bezeichnungen in einem, als Anhang gedruckten deutsch-englischen Wörterverzeichnisse ihre Erklärung finden.

Als dritte Abteilung der „Allgemeinen Länderkunde" erscheint:

Amerika. Eine allgemeine Landeskunde.

In Gemeinschaft mit Dr. E. Deckert und Dr. W. Kükenthal heraus gegeben von Dr. Wilhelm Sievers.

Mit ca. 180 Abbildungen im Text, 13 Karten und 20 Tafeln in Farbendruck und Holzschnitt von R. Cronau, A. Goering, E. Heyn, W. Kuhnert, K. Oenike, O. Winkler.

Das Verlangen, vom amerikanischen Erdteil im Ganzen etwas Übersichtlicheres zu erfahren und etwas Einheitlicheres zu wissen, als es von den unabsehbar zahlreichen Monographien und Reisewerken, sowie von den großen geographischen Handbüchern gegeben werden kann, ist jetzt dringender und umfänglicher als je zuvor. Dieses Verlangen erfüllt dieser Band im vollsten Maße, indem er zunächst durch eine Skizze der amerikanischen Entdeckungsgeschichte in die geographische Kenntnis Amerikas einführt und dann den Aufbau des Kontinents, seine Bodengestalt und Bewässerung, seine Pflanzen- und Tierwelt, seine menschliche Natur- und Kulturbevölkerung, die Entwickelung und Zustände seiner Staaten und Kolonien und endlich die alle amerikanischen Länder umschlingenden Formen des Verkehrs dem eingehenden Verständnis durch lichtvolle Schilderung enschließt.

Auf eine ebenso gediegene wie reiche Ausstattung ist der größte Wert gelegt. Die naturgetreuen Abbildungen sind meist Originale, nach Photographien in Holzschnitt ausgeführt, die farbenreichen Tafeln in Farbendruck von künstlerischer Vollendung dienen dem Buch als ganz besondere Zierde. Die Schrift und das starke, holzfreie Papier werden selbst die verwöhntesten Ansprüche befriedigen.

„Amerika" erscheint und kann bezogen werden in 13 Lieferungen zu je $0.30; oder auch in Halbfranz gebunden zu $5.00

Als die ersten zwei Abteilungen der „Allgemeinen Länderkunde" sind erschienen:

Afrika. Von Dr. Wilhelm Sievers.

Mit 154 Abbildungen im Text, 12 Karten und 16 Tafeln in Farbendruck und Holzschnitt.
In Halbfranz gebunden $4.00

Asien. Von Dr. Wilhelm Sievers.

Mit 160 Abbildungen im Text, 14 Karten und 22 Tafeln in Farbendruck und Holzschnitt.
In Halbfranz gebunden $5.00

Als vierter Teil wird sich im Herbst 1894 „Europa" anschließen, dem „Australien" im Jahr 1895 folgen soll.

A remarkable series of works by well-known authors, in an attractive and unique binding.

Little Garden of Roses, The.

By THOMAS À KEMPIS.

A translation of a hitherto almost unknown book by the author of "Of the Imitation of Christ." Written in the same spirit of piety and devotion as that wonderful work.

Valley of Lilies, The.

By THOMAS À KEMPIS.

A translation of a hitherto almost unknown work by the author of "Of the Imitation of Christ," and a companion to the "Little Garden of Roses." It treats of the virtues of mankind as lilies planted by our Lord in the valley of humility.

Story of the Crucifixion, The.

A Poem by WILLIAM MITCHELL.

A story of the Resurrection, the Forty Days and the Ascension.

Persian Tales from Various Sources.

With introduction, notes and appendix by W. A. CLOUSTON, author of "Popular Tales and Fictions," "Flowers from a Persian Garden," etc.

It is the common notion that all Oriental fiction is founded upon the supernatural, but Mr. Clouston declares this to be a mistake. Many of the Eastern fictions are simply tales of common life which never outrage probability, and his book is intended to be a choice collection of such tales.

These stories are taken, in the most part, from scarce old Indian publications and have never been printed in the United States.

Counsels; Civil and Moral, from My Lord Bacon.

By JAMES M. MASON, M.D.

These counsels are selected chiefly from the Essays and Apophthegms of Lord Bacon. Much of the wisdom of that great writer is contained in this little book.

A Ministering Angel, and How to Become One.

By the REV. J. HILES HITCHENS, D.D.

Dr. Hitchens takes the ground that the world has always dealt too severely with woman; that it has always been fashionable to distrust her character and cast on her the entire blame for all the ills humanity endures. In this book he aims to describe what the pure-minded and noble-spirited women of the world have accomplished.

Loving and Living.

A book written as a "comforter" during the trials of life, and to show the vast capabilities in the two words "Loving and Living."

Perfect Through Suffering.

A book written to show the benefits that often come from seeming misfortunes.

Each of these books is a well-printed 32mo volume, with red-line borders. With a beautiful enamel binding with gold edges and with a half side of figured material, in which the title is stamped in gold on the white enamel. In addition to this there is a dainty cover for each book, of white figured linen, with wide edges and with the title stamped in gold on the outside.

EIGHT SONGS OF HORACE.

Edited by GEORGE E. VINCENT.

A remarkable novelty which has received the most careful attention in every detail. It is an attempt to reproduce with all possible exactness a ROMAN BOOK of the classic period.

This fac-simile of an old LATIN MS. is in the shape of a scroll of heavy parchment-paper, wound about a wooden cylinder with a white enameled knob at each end, and tied with a leather thong. The first eight pages are lithographed, and consist of a title page in Latin, together with one of the rude, colored portraits of Horace, such as adorned the more pretentious volumes of the Roman bookseller, and followed by eight characteristic songs of the genial society poet of the time of Augustus. These are printed side by side in the Latin, in an alphabet gleaned from old coins, inscriptions and MSS., an artist having made a careful DRAWING for each page.

The back of the strip containing these pages is stained crimson, and the edges are stained black, as was the case in the old Roman MSS.

Following this Latin part, are a title-page and translations of all the verses, in English. These translations are from the best sources and are artistically printed.

The whole strip of parchment-paper, when unrolled, is several feet in length, but can be kept in very small compass.

In order to insure accuracy, the aid of professors in our greatest American university has been had, and the British Museum has been visited.

The result is a most striking likeness of a Roman MS. of centuries ago, which is most interesting to any one, but especially to those of classical tastes or education, and to instructors who know the value of models based on careful research and study.

Each in a cylindrical box, ... $2.00

"A very unique and perfectly executed bit of bibliographic work. * * No more interesting novelty could be added to the collections of novelty seekers or of scholars."—The Chautauquan.

"Horace himself probably never saw a worthier edition of his choicest bits of society verse, and it is a pity that Mœcenas could not have received a copy of this book as a Christmas gift to read with his Falernian before his fire."—Boston Daily Advertiser.

MADONNAS BY OLD MASTERS.

One of the most important art-works ever undertaken in this country.

Ten photo-gravures after old masters' paintings of Madonnas which have received universal recognition and admiration. Photo-gravures have been made because they give vastly more accurate reproductions of the great originals than is possible in the case of any etchings or engravings, however excellent. With only one or two exceptions, where it was impossible to procure the necessary material, no personalities but those of the painters appear in the photo-gravures here presented.

They are as EXACT FAC-SIMILES of the originals as it is possible to make by any process resulting in a copper or steel plate. The publishers know of nothing of their general nature which copy the same paintings and can compare with these valuable plates.

Text including an important essay on

"THE MADONNA IN ART,"

by

RIPLEY HITCHCOCK,

author of "Etching in America," "Important New Etchings," etc.

MITE DICTIONARY.

The Smallest English Dictionary in the World.

Size, ¾ x 1⅛ inches.

Although it contains about 15,000 words and has 384 pages, it weighs only 44 grains and the print is so small that it cannot be read except with the aid of a magnifying glass. This little book is enclosed in an attractive metal locket, in one side of which is set a magnifying glass.

This dictionary is useful as well as unique. It contains besides the ordinary and newest words in the language, short explanations of a large number of scientific, philosophical, literary and technical terms. It will, as a rule, settle any difficulty which might momentarily occur even to well educated persons.

Of the larger edition of this dictionary, which contains exactly the same number of words, the London Times says: "Certainly a marvel of minute compactness and within its narrow limits not inadequate nor inaccurate."

Bound in limp leather, and enclosed in a locket with magnifying glass.

Columbus, Christopher, The Life and Adventures of.

By ALEXANDER INNES, M.A.

A short and concise history of the life of the great discoverer. It omits the unimportant details of his adventures, but gives every interesting fact in his career in a simple, continued narrative.

On the title-page is a portrait of Columbus, and the frontispiece is a full-page reproduction of the painting by Brugada, representing the arrival of the discoverer at San Salvador, on Oct. 12, 1492, which is now in the Naval Museum, Madrid. Experts have recently established the genuineness of this picture, and have proved beyond doubt that it is a true and faithful representation of the kind of craft in which Columbus made his first voyage of discovery. On the cover is stamped an outline of Columbus's ship, and also one of the globe.
